The Right Fight

The Devil is on your left,
God is on your right,
Tell me which one you want to fight.
For God, we know,
Is out of sight,
So it's the Devil you want to fight.
Fight that Devil with all your might,
Then you'll be in God's sight.
God is the one.
That's how life began.
God gave his life for me,
Read the bible, this you'll see.
So fight the Devil with all your might,
I guarantee you will see the light.
God is with you, that He'll be,
He'll send the Devil to his knee,
So fight, fight, fight!
God will show you the light,
So pick the one on the right,
God will fight for you with all his might.
Say your prayers,
Don't be a square,
God will answer all your prayers.
So trust in God, He's the one on the right.
God will keep that Devil out of your life,
The fight for your life.
May God be with you always.

Lost Soul

I have been crying all day. Big crocodile tears - straight from the heart, straight from the soul. I haven't cried since my relapse into drugs and alcohol about two months ago. I suffered severe depression off and on over the course of my relapse, yet never once did I cry. After only 11 days of recovery (of healing) have I found the real pain. The truth. The real me. I have found my soul!

Of course it was never really lost. It was just being hid from me by my diseased mind. A mind that will do anything in its power to stop me from transcending through ego. Ego - that haven created for mind by mind. My mind would rather see me go from one unhealthy relationship to another. It would rather see me go to prison. My mind would rather see me drink and drug myself into an early grave. It will create an illusion of reality and make me believe it to be true, to the point of such severe depression that I contemplate suicide.

However it is not real! I know this because I did not shed a single tear. I cry like a baby with no shame today though. Why? Because this is real, this is my lost soul crying out for help. Not the kind of help my mind has been feeding it for 37 years. Not those great big lies my mind tells me. You know the ones - "I'll be all right if I just find the right girl." - "I'll be all right if I just make more money." - "I will be happy if I have all the latest, top of the line material possessions." - "I will be fine as long as I'm drunk and cannot feel at all!" And of course the worst one of all - "I am all right!" The big denial - ignore the emptiness as if it were not there.

Many believe that life is about the flesh. I know I did. I was wrong! Today I believe it is all about the soul, this life is about the soul first, then the mind and body. It is not about how much money, cars, or house's you own. It is about what we do to help our souls grow. Were we of any service in our very short time in this realm, (this reality)? What can we say we really accomplished in our whole lifetime? Did we grow closer to God?

I may be sad today, full of pain - but this is real and I will take it. As I cry and the tears roll down my cheeks, I love life and am close to God once again. This pain will fade and I will feel true joy because I have found my lost soul. I will feed it with love and compassion for my fellow man. Through service I will grow, I cannot be selfish, only a corrupt mind has that character flaw.

I believe there are many ways for a soul to lose it's way down false roads that can only be traced back to self - the mind and the pursuit of happiness in all the wrong places, usually the material world. Peace of mind can only be found temporarily in a new car, a new house, or a bottle of whiskey. No matter what the pain or fear is buried down deep the truth will set me free.

Tears cleanse the soul and God is always with me. When my mind tells me He is not there, it is a lying to me.

The 40th IAAWC will be held in Buffalo in February 2004. We will have many panels on the 4 days of the Convention. We invite women in WNY AA to send in topics they would like to hear for panel discussion at the convention. Please send your suggestions for topics to:

Or call Joanne @ 688-2760.

Step One: We admitted we were powerless over alcohol ~ that our lives had become unmanageable.

Paradox ~ Surrender to win.

Such is the paradox of AA regeneration; strength arising out of complete defeat and weakness, the loss of one's old life as a condition for finding a new one.

AA comes of Age p. 33

Excerpts from Alcoholics Anonymous Chapter 3

The idea that somehow, someday he will control and enjoy his drinking is the great obsession of every abnormal drinker. The persistence of this illusion is astonishing. Many pursue it into the gates of insanity or death.

We learned we had to fully concede to our innermost selves that we were alcoholics. This is the first step in recovery. The delusion that we are like other people, or presently may be, has to be smashed.

We are convinced to a man that alcoholics of our type are in the grip of a progressive illness. Over any considerable period we get worse, never better.

... there is no such thing as making a normal drinker out of an alcoholic.

Here are some of the methods we tried: Drinking beer only, limiting the number of drinks, never drinking alone, never drinking in the morning, drinking only at home, never having it in the house, never drinking during business hours, drinking only at parties, switching from scotch to brandy, drinking only natural wines, agreeing to resign if ever drunk on the job, taking a trip, swearing off forever (with or without a solemn oath), taking more physical exercise, reading inspirational books, going to health farms and sanitariums, accepting voluntary commitment to asylums – we could increase the list ad infinitum.

Commencing to drink after a period of sobriety, we are in a short time as bad as ever. If we are planning to stop drinking there must be no reservation of any kind, nor any lurking notion that someday we will be immune to alcohol.

To be gravely affected, one does not necessarily have to drink a long time nor take the quantities some of us have. This is particularly true of women. Potential female alcoholics often turn into the real thing and are gone beyond recall in a few years.

For those who are unable to drink moderately the question is how to stop altogether. We are assuming, of course, that the reader desires to stop. Whether such a person can quit upon a nonspiritual basis depends upon the extent to which he has already lost the power to choose whether he will drink or not.

Tradition One: Our common welfare should come first; personal recovery depends upon AA unity.

Excerpts from the 12 & 12

The unity of Alcoholics Anonymous is the most cherished quality our society has. Our lives, the lives of all to come, depend squarely upon it. We stay whole, or AA dies. Without unity, the heart of AA would cease to beat; our world arteries would no longer carry the life-giving grace of God. His gift to us would be spent aimlessly.

The AA member has to conform to the principles of recovery. His life actually depends upon obedience to spiritual principles. If he deviates too far, the penalty is sure and swift; he sickens and dies. At first he goes along because he must, but later he discovers a way of life he really wants to live. Moreover, he finds he cannot keep this priceless gift unless he gives it away. Neither he nor anybody else can survive unless he carries the AA message.

By faith and by works we have been able to build upon the lessons of an incredible experience. They live today in the Twelve Traditions of Alcoholics Anonymous, which – God willing – shall sustain us in unity for so long as He may need us.

Guidelines for writing New Frontiers articles

Format: If possible, manuscripts should be typed. If you don't have a typewriter or computer just write clearly and legibly, on one side of the paper only. If you quote from AA literature (or another source) in your article, please give the correct name of the source, along with the page number.

Length: Maybe you heard a one-liner at a meeting that you'd like to pass along, or maybe you just want to relate one short but sweet incident, or maybe you really want to go in depth on a particular subject - no matter how long or short, the important thing is that you say what you want to say. Please keep articles to one typewritten page since space is limited.

What We Do Not Publish: Personal prayers, tributes to individual AA's, drama, anything not related to Alcoholics Anonymous (such as articles about the field of alcoholism treatment, legislation, medical advances, etc.).
